

endodoctor

Thomas Schneider-Strittmatter

German (born 1968)

CEO

Following his technical and commercial education, Thomas Schneider-Strittmatter obtained a degree in Business Administration and engineering. To begin with specializing in manufacturing of medical devices, shortly after in Marketing and Sales.

For more than 20 years, Thomas Schneider-Strittmatter has been successfully operating in sales within the medical device industry, continuously extending his experience by holding leadership positions within renowned medical device companies like STERIS, KARL STORZ and DePuy (Mitek and Spine).

He founded endodoctor GmbH in 2010 together with his associate partner Holger Armbruster.

Thomas Schneider-Strittmatter holds responsibility for the management of global sales and marketing for endodoctor GmbH.